

Utter Simplicity

by Cynthia - Wednesday, November 26, 2014

<http://theleaningcottage.com/utter-simplicity/>

Plant stand, turned upside down shows old wear and tear.

Hello Old Friends,

It has been a while! I have moved out of my house for the renovation and am firmly ensconced in my new digs, although I am not fully settled in. More about that in another post.

For now, I am posting something I should have posted this summer but didn't have the time. Some of you will remember an upside down plant stand for a vintage ice bucket champagne holder. I walked by it one day and thought "wash stand with vintage towel" so I grabbed some cotton twill and fashioned a towel holder and used a lovely old mirror and voila.

I hope you find some inspiration in the simple things.

Always,

Cindy

Stunning on it's own, as is.

An old ironstone pitcher, basin and vintage towel casually slung with a towel bar fashioned out of make do cotton twill.

Using things I had, around the house just as I found them.

PDF generated by Kalin's PDF Creation Station